GW - RB (Marine Class) Comfort Blower Heater

GW Axial Fan Heater has undergone a full transformation into a brand new and stronger variant that not only looks robust, but it is ready for anything that the rough seas can throw at the vessel in which it is installed. From the transformation, it has gained great strength and greater survivability that far surpass the previous model and that of the competition. With the redesign, the product has undergone one of the most stringent class approval tests, and has achieved the RS certification with IP 22 rating.
